ALL SORTS.

—The Democratic primaries take place in Storey county today. Adams will probably carry the county.

—There is a man stepping in this city who wants to work on a ranch. Information regarding him can be had in this office.

—Harry Hardup who was in this city two years ago is now in San Quentin for forgery. The courts have decided that seven years will be about the figures.

—If it takes thirty-six miles of river to supply a riparianist in California, how many men in the State can enjoy water privileges under the riparian decision of the Supreme Court.

—The idea that forty men can boycott the balance of the town of Carson is the height of nonsense. Let the Americans of Carson assert themselves and down with the death-head and bloody bones.

—The riparianists are fighting for not only a monopoly of the water, but a monopoly of the land in California. If they succeed their gigantic shadow will darken all the State from the Sierras to the sea.

—For its soothing and grateful influence on the scalp, and for the removal and prevention of dandruff Ayer's Hair Vigor has no equal. It restores faded or gray hair to its original dark color, stimulates the growth of the hair, and gives it a beautiful, soft, glossy and silken appearance.

—Ayer's Sarsaparilla is designed for those who need a medicine to purify their blood, build them up, increase their appetite and rejuvenate their whole system. No other preparation so well meets this want. It touches the exact spot. Its record of forty years is one of constant triumph over disease.

—The Socialists are making trouble for the Federated Trades. It is the Socialists' business to make trouble. Where two or three of them are gathered together there also will be found an equal number of plans for reorganizing society; and each Socialist is generally consumed by a desire to shed the blood of everybody to whom his plan does not seem perfect.

—The keen-witted Yankee is engaged in beating the devil around the bush, and the resentful Canuck is trying to stop him. That is the sun, and substance of the whole fisheries trouble. The treaty of 1818 forbids the Yankee fisherman to buy bait, so he employs another Yankee, who is not a fisherman, to go and buy it for him. It is a game two can play at, and the Yankee plays the strongest game.

—The Garrard club of this city propose to open war upon the female school teachers of Carson and drive them from the city. These ladies have grown up in this city or lived many years here, and occupy respectable places in society. No one questions their efficiency as teachers. They work hard and earn every dollar of their wages, and the citizens of Carson propose to see them stay right where they are.

—Mr. Powderly says that Anarchists are "Men who become soured and jealous of what they have been unable to get for themselves. You can't reason with Anarchists, because they are not reasonable. They don't know exactly what they do want, but just have an insane desire to destroy and mar everything that belongs to other people."

Mr. Powderly's remarks exactly fit the little collection of cranks who are now trying to run Ormsby county.

A Valuable Remedy.

Brandreth's Pills have been used by millions of human beings. Their success is founded upon the theory of reason, and an attentive observation of symptoms of disease. Whatever makes bad dikes tions breeds disease, and whatever makes good dikes cures disease. Brandreth's Pills make good digestion, purify the blood, and remove all bad humors out of the body by the organs of the stomach and bowels. They act in harmony with vital action and work of nutrition; the strength increases, the skin and the eye become clear, and the symptoms of the malady are surely rendered milder by their use. They are harmless for all ages and conditions.

DIDN'T WANT WORK.

Idlers Who Do Not Want $4 a day.
Day before yesterday an agent of Marlette & Fulsom was in the city trying to hire men to work in the mountains at wood chopping. He could not get any.

Recently there was a wood drive which had reached the Eureka mill and been stopped by the dam. Mr. Woodbury the Superintendent of the mill came down to this city and offered $3 25 a day for men to handle this wood which amounted to 1,200 cords. He raised the price to $4 but the men he talked with did not care to work. They had an idea that as the case was an urgent one they could get more by refusing. They reckoned without their host, however, as the owners of the wood hired Chinamen at $1 75 and saved the wood. These are the men who howl about the streets and say that there is a conspiracy here to keep white men out of work.

Christine Nilsson's New Home.

Everybody at Madrid is talking about the mansion of the newly married Countess de Miranda, whom the public know by the name of Christine Nilsson. The rooms are decorated in the most extraordinary and eccentric fashion. The dining-room is papered with all her old hotel bills, while the walls of her boudoir are covered with the music and librettos of all the operas in which she has ever taken part. Lovely paintings of Swedish scenery hang in the bedroom, while the card-room is completely papered from floor to ceiling with cuttings from the newspapers of the world concerning the cantatrice. The wood-work and paneling of the two salons are completely hidden by all the faded wreaths, bouquets and ribbons presented to the prima donna on the various occasions on which she appeared in public.

A Handy Affair.

Mr. Maish, the gunsmith, has just received a patent for a lamp burner, which will probably make him rich in time. You can attach it to any burner, and when the wick is turned down, a piece of metal, forced by a spring shuts over the wick, and the bother of blowing the light out is obviated. It is cheap, simple and effective; so simple, in fact, that everybody wonders why it was not thought of before.

Scene At the Arlington.

A man called at the Arlington House kitchen yesterday and noticed a white man there that he must leave as there were Chinese in the place. The white man said he was satisfied with the place and did not propose to loaf in the streets at the dictation of any man. The man went away notifying the white help that a Committee would soon interview him. The Judge says that the Committee will find him in.

"Mark How Plain a Tale" etc.

The other day one of the leading lights of the Garrard Club informed a crowd on the sidewalk that he owed no man a dollar in this town and should do as he pleased. The man lied and knew it as he has a note lying against him in this city for nearly two thousand dollars. This note was offered for sale yesterday for $800, and no buyers. Everybody knows the man.

The Smelling Committee.

The individuals who have taken upon themselves to go about back yards and kitchens, and smell out the private business of leading citizens are known as the "Smelling Committee." The fact that a man's house is his castle cuts no particular figure with these parties, but if they are not careful they will ascertain some things regarding this latter proposition.

The Virginia Union.

Virginia City has another new paper called the Union. It is run by Mr. Shannon and advocates for office those men who have stood by the Labor organizations of the Comstock. Its leading candidate is Adams for Governor, and it is quite attractively gotten up. It is anti-Fair and looks as if it intended to be run mostly by the proprietors.

Please Step Forward.

The APPEAL would respectfully suggest that the Boycotting Committee come around here and pay the taxes on the APPEAL property. They seem to be running the business and we think that if they are gentlemen they will also pay the taxes.

THE STATE FAIR.

Two New Races Added to the Programme—Other Business.

In addition to the regular speed programme it was decided to add the following races:

Trotting—3 minute class; best three in five; free for all horses in Nevada; Sierra, Plumas, Modoc, Mono and Inyo counties, California, and Grant county, Oregon; purse, $150.

Trotting—3:40 class; free for all horses in Nevada, and counties above named; purse $200.

The time of entrance to all State races was extended to September first.

Entrance to all trotting races will close September 1st.

Secretary.

The Sea Serpent Outdone.

A special from Cinnabar, M. T. says: "Last Monday a stage driver and two tourists, while near Yellowstone Lake, claim to have seen an enormous reptile, which, while running through the grass, carried its head ten of fifteen feet above the ground. They think it must have been at least thirty feet long. A party was organized at once to pursue the reptile. A number of tourists, among them Col. Wear, Superintendent of the Park, and his assistant, Captain Barronette, while near the cave of an extinct geyser in the vicinity of the lake, heard a hissing sound coming from the cave and saw the head of a reptile thrust out some fifteen feet, and immediately withdrawn. Parties are watching for another sight of the monster." It is to be hoped that those persons at Yellowstone Lake who discovered the monstrous serpent will not trample upon the worm. They ought to treasure him. The great mistake made by the ancients like Hercules and Meleager and Perseus was in killing the singular animals they encountered. Let the moderns profit by experience. Travelers will not believe the story in these days unless they see the snake.

Baldwin's Victorious Volante.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9th.—The Tribune says: Excepting Dewdrop, there is hardly a horse on the turf today that could give Volante a race. She could beat him, but she has many valuable stakes to run for, and they are at her mercy. The Dwyers have upheld the supremacy of the East even against great odds and they will do it again if occasion presents itself. Miss Woodford is practically broken down. The Dwyers say it is not likely that she will ever come to the post again. She will be bred to Hindo. The breaking down of Miss Woodford is not the only misfortune the Dwyers have met with. The speedy Pontiac is also a miss. The Dwyers paid $17,500 at the Rancocas sale for him. He is worth a good deal of money as a stallion, but a race-horse is what they want. Miss Woodford and Pontiac out, they will have to depend upon Dewdrop for all their really fast work this year.

Henry George and the Mayoralty of New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Henry George said he would not consent to be the Workingmen's candidate for Mayor unless the labor organizations would guarantee him 25,000 votes. The political strength of the Workingmen in a Mayoralty contest is as yet an unknown quantity. If the labor unions resolve at their adjourned conference, to be held on the 19th, to nominate an independent ticket for that office, there will be no difficulty in procuring a candidate. Roswell P. Flower would accept the honor, so would Mayor Grace, both of whom believe a nomination by the Workingmen would insure an indorsement by the bosses and those who run the political machine, in which case an election would be a moral certainty.

—Harry Hardup, the forger recently sent to San Quentin, says that he used to edit the Chronicle years ago. Mr. Hardup was also the Lake Tahoe correspondent of the APPEAL, and his enormous lies, spread before the public in a condensed form, were appreciated by hundreds of readers. Mr. Hardup will have considerable leisure time to send letters to the APPEAL during the next seven years, and give our sharp-witted contemporaries splendid chances to crack old musty chestnuts at our expense.

Letter from Sacramento.

TO THE EDITOR:

The Capital City of California presents many interesting sights, but few are more so than the store of Weinstock & Lubin. The history of their business reads almost like a romance. Started in a miniature store, with a capital of but a few hundred dollars, and in the face of strong competition, it has, in eleven years, increased the extent of its ground floor area more than a hundred fold, the number of its clerks from one to one hundred and fifty and sixty; has completely outstripped its rivals, and is now one of the largest general retail stores in the United States.

Long ago people predicted that on account of its already large business, that further growth was impossible. But it has grown, and it is growing. Indeed, the recent increase in its business has been larger proportionally than for a number of years. This, undoubtedly, is because time has solidified and perfected its organization, added to its experience, and proven to the people that its principles are as steady and fixed as they are just.

In a newspaper, now worn and dingy with age, we find the germ of these principles aptly stated in one of the store announcements: "We aim to treat our customers as we would wish to be treated if we were in their place." How much this has meant to the millions who have dealt with the store since it was started, or how much it continues to mean to-day, no one can tell who has never given its methods a personal trial.

Even in distant states and territories people can be found who have never visited Sacramento, but whose confidence in this House and in the superiority of its goods can be shaken. They know by experience what they think they speak.

One almost feels that with such a brilliant record, a House like this would rest content. Not so, there is still work to be done—there is still chance to provide the people of the Pacific Coast with better goods than as a whole they now get—still room to lower the prices they pay. What store so fit to undertake the work as this store? And it means to do it. In fact, it is doing it.

Even distant merchants feel the potency of its influence. It is an interesting and suggestive fact, that there are many people who have never heard of this Store, but who today are being served by local dealers better and truer, than they would be, but for its existence. In a word, public opinion is being slowly revolutionized as to the treatment in justice due from dealer to customer.

While the Store is thus accomplishing much indirectly, it is in direct work that its principles and methods shine brightest. It stands at all times as ready to serve the wants, perchance, of the distant widow, who may send for twenty-five cents worth of goods, as it does the banker or capitalist who enters its doors to spend hundreds of dollars. Neither favor, affection, patronage or friendship, can influence the determination to treat all customers alike.

Furthermore, people know that in sending to Weinstock & Lubin, Sacramento, who deal direct with the leading manufacturers of Europe and America—that they get the benefit of latest styles and fashions—and prices as low and lower than those of other dealers.

There is hardly anything which this House does not keep—from a toothpick to a bridal outfit. Dry Goods, Clothing, Millinery, Shoes, Hats, Notions, etc., all command its earnest attention. A large Illustrated Catalogue of its goods, prices, etc., is sent free to any address.

Facts are but food for reflection. The lesson they teach in this case is plain. DO NOT REMAIN UNACQUAINTED WITH THE ADVANTAGES PRESENTED BY THIS STORE.
